Newark, N. J.

My Dear Mrs. Manley:

Publicity is a gift to me so here is a galley proof of the story I wrote after talking to you long distance today. I had only one hour and a half to dead line and with some other stories to work out. This happens to be a one-man job here. However, I did the best I could with what material I could rake up and what I could remember. The part which pays you a little tribute was dropped by you in a conversation while in the press box at the East versus West game. I shall see you at the Polo Grounds on September 17 and in Newark on the 19th.

Yours for continued success and please remember me to Abe.

Yours very truly,

Fay
